We've been through a tough few months here with the project.

The straw that broke the camels back completely was the untimely and totally unexpected passing of my father on 27 September 2014. My sound board, confidant, builder, friend, father and greatest fan is no longer with me. It was ironic that his passing was on 27 September exactly 27 years after my accident.

It has taken the wind out of my sails and it is taking a huge effort to get back up on the proverbial horse. Thankfully I have an incredible circle of friends and family around me that have made the getting up just a little easier.

I can say with confidence that my father would have wanted me to carry on no matter what and that is exactly what I intend to do. In his memory and that of my mother as well we will continue with Project Dreamwings.

Phase 1 has been put into motion. Project Cuba as my team are calling it.
